OLYMPIC HILLS GOLF CLUB

Olympic Hills was founded in 1969 and designed by architect Charlie Maddox. Once opened, they brought to life a golf course that was immediately recognized as one of the more imaginative and demanding venues in Minnesota. After nearly 50 years, the course underwent a complete renovation led by architect Ron Pritchard and project manager Tom Mead from 2013-2015. The course reopened in August 2015 and has matured into one of the top courses in the state.

Olympic Hills hosted the 2002 MGA Amateur Championship won by Bowen Osborn, who shot a three-day total of 219 (+3), defeating John Spreiter on the second sudden death hole. The facility also hosted the 2017 Annika Intercollegiate won by Arkansas in the team competition and Maria Fassi (Arkansas) in the individual event. In addition to the 2002 MGA Amateur, the club has hosted several other MGA events including the 2011 Mid and Senior Players' Championship won by Erik Christopherson and Robert Leaf, respectively, as well as, the 2006 MGA Mid-Amateur Championship won by Todd Sinjem.

LAST YEAR'S CHAMPIONSHIP

Derek Hitchner notched his first state amateur championship by breaking a pair of MGA Amateur Championship records: best sub-par finish and lowest 54-hole cumulative score, after posting a 15-under par 201 at Rush Creek Golf Club in Maple Grove to win the 118th MGA Amateur.

Carding a tournament-low 8-under 64 to open the championship, Hitchner followed it with a 4-under 68 to take a one-stroke lead over Caleb VanArragon after 36 holes of play.

Unable to convert multiple birdie chances early in the final round, Hitchner found his stride after sinking back-to-back birdies from eight feet at the fifth and sixth holes, to move to 13-under and increase his lead to three.

Curling a left-to-right breaker from six feet at the 11th, Hitchner began to pull away from the field before VanArragon's tee shot at the par-4 13th rolled to eight feet where he would convert his eagle chance to pull within three.

After sinking a 15-footer for birdie at the 15th, Hitchner would head to the final hole with a two-shot lead over VanArragon, who birdied the 17th. Finding tree trouble right of the 18th fairway, Hitchner managed to make bogey, just his third for the week, to finish one stroke ahead of VanArragon.

VanArragon opened the tournament with a 6-under 66 and would post back-to-back rounds of 68 for his best finish at the championship, improving on a seventh-place finish from 2020.

Andrew Israelson, who carded a 7-under 65 to finish as runner up the previous year, fired a final-round 67 capped by an eagle-3 at the 18th to finish in a tie for third with Lucas Johnson at 9-under 207.

Hitchner Sets 54-Hole Records at 118th MGA Amateur Championship

The last time Derek Hitchner claimed a state championship in Minnesota, he broke the Class AA scoring record by shooting 10-under 134 in 2016 at Ridges at Sand Creek to cap off his sophomore season at the Blake School. Hitchner notched a second state championship by breaking a pair of Minnesota Golf Association Amateur Championship records: best sub-par finish and lowest 54-hole cumulative score, after posting a 15-under par 201, July 21 at Rush Creek Golf Club in Maple Grove to win the 118th MGA Amateur.

“Winning this tournament has always been a goal of mine because I’ve played with so many of these players and I’ve played in it four or five times before,” Hitchner said following his round Wednesday. “It means the world to me to be able to get this done. I knew it would be tough, but I’m thankful to come out on top.” The Pepperdine University golfer recently carded a 7-under 281 to win the 117th Trans-Mississippi Amateur Championship at Windsong Farm July 9, plus a top-20 finish at the Sunnehanna Amateur in June.

A few days later Hitchner qualified for his third U.S. Amateur Championship by tallying a 36-hole score of 6-under 138, and then followed it with a runner-up finish at the Minnesota State Open at Chaska Town Course, shooting 12-under 132. Including his win at Rush Creek, Hitchner has shot even par or better in 16 of his last 18 competitive rounds, with 12 consecutive rounds under par. Hitchner has played his last 327 holes in a combined 38-under par. “This month has been pretty surreal,” Hitchner said. “Golf is so unpredictable. Going into the Trans-Miss, I was playing pretty badly—I had just finished [tied for 84th at Pinehurst]. I wasn’t feeling great, but felt like if I kept working hard that I could break through. Thankfully that’s happened and I’ve been able to sustain it. I’m trying to take it day by day, but it’s been a pretty cool stretch.”

Carding a tournament-low 8-under 64 to open the championship, Hitchner followed it with a 4-under 68 to take a one-stroke lead over Caleb VanArragon after 36 holes of play.

Unable to convert multiple birdie chances early in the final round, Hitchner started the scoring by sinking back-to-back birdies from eight feet at the fifth and sixth holes, moving to 13-under and increasing his lead to three. Curling a left-to-right breaker from six feet at the 11th hole, Hitchner began to pull away from the field before VanArragon's tee shot at the par-4 rolled to eight feet where he would convert his eagle chance to pull within three. After sinking a 15-footer for birdie at the 15th hole, Hitchner would head to the final hole with a two-shot lead over VanArragon, who birdied the 17th hole. Finding tree trouble right of the 18th fairway would lead to the third bogey of the week for Hitchner, and he would finish with a one-stroke victory at 15-under 201.

"The fundamental idea today was to give myself chances at birdies," Hitchner said. "I don't try to force it because that's where errors possibly occur, so I tried to stick to process objectives that I have on each shot and try to execute.

"Today was nerve-wracking—especially because I knew there were so many good players behind me and I was playing with two of the best players in the state. I knew that no lead was ever safe and it almost erased the idea that I had a lead. I didn't feel like any lead would make me feel comfortable." VanArragon opened the tournament with

"It means the world to me to be able to get this done. I knew it would be tough, but I'm thankful to come out on top."

—Derek Hitchner

I'm not that disappointed because Derek played so well. When he does that, there isn't much you can do to beat him. "I'm not sure if it was nerves, but I definitely didn't get off to a great start. My putting just wasn't there and I wasn't hitting my iron shots as close as I have been. This week I've done a good job of recovering from bad shots. I'm really happy with where my game is at and this is a confirmation that the work I've been putting in this summer is paying off"

VanArragon entered the week with one victory to his credit this season, claiming a seven-stroke victory at the Twin Cities Championship in late June.

Andrew Israelson, who carded a 7-under 65 to finish as runner up last year at Edina Country Club, fired a final-round 67 capped by an eagle-3 at No. 18 to finish in a tie for third with Lucas Johnson at 9-under 207.

a 6-under 66 and would post back-to-back rounds of 68 for his best finish at the championship, improving on a seventh-place finish a year ago. "Today I wanted to stay in the moment, play confident and not get ahead of myself," VanArragon said.

"I knew it was going to be tough chasing Derek because he hardly missed a shot all round.
