MINNEWASKA GOLF CLUB

Incorporated in 1923 by two local golfers and the proprietor of the Sunset Beach Hotel, the Glenwood Golf Club hired a Mr. Clark of Minneapolis, most likely the same William D. Clark whose prolific work earned an induction into the Minnesota Golf Hall of Fame. Clark's 9-hole design opened for play that same year. Several years later, and after a name change to Minnewaska, the golf club hired Tom Vardon expressly to lengthen the 9-hole layout to 3,200 yards and play to a par of 36.

Nearly 60 years later, Minnewaska members including Dr. Bob Harris, father to Minnesota Golf Hall of Famers John Harris and Nancy (Harris) Blanchard, asked former PGA Tour professional Joel Goldstrand to expand the course to the 18-hole, par 72, 6,480 yard-layout competitors will experience this year.

LAST YEAR'S CHAMPIONSHIP

Kathryn VanArragon posted a three-round total of 1-under 218 to win the MGA Women's Amateur Championship by one-stroke at Baker National Golf Course.

Carding four birdies during her final nine holes lifted VanArragon to a final-round 72 to edge Xavier University golfer Emma Welch for her second win at the event in five seasons.

Entering the round tied for the lead with Welch, VanArragon struggled with her putter during her opening nine, carding a trio of three-putt bogeys over her first seven holes.

Turning in 3-over for the round, VanArragon converted her second birdie of the round at the par-5 10th to build momentum and move within two shots of the lead.

Getting a boost from her putter late in the championship, VanArragon curled in a 12-footer for birdie at the 13th to move into a three-way tie for the lead at 1-over for the tournament.

She took the outright lead for good by sinking her birdie chance from four feet at the 14th.

Unfazed after Welch dropped her birdie chance from 25 feet to get back to even par for the round, VanArragon rolled in her final birdie of the day, a 20-footer to maintain a one-stroke advantage.

VanArragon found a fairway bunker at the last, leaving her second just short of the green before chipping to four feet and rolling in her par putt to card a final-round 72.

Welch proved to be the most consistent player in the field during the week, carding three consecutive rounds of even par 73.

She carded 12 consecutive pars to begin her final round before making her only bogey of the final round at the par-5 13th to join a four-way tie for the lead at 1-over par.

A lengthy birdie putt at the 17th helped Welch get back to even par for the championship, where she would collect her 15th top-10 finish over the past seven seasons.

First-round leader Isabelle Lynch carded a final-round 73 to earn a third-place finish at 221, while two-time champion Oliva Herrick finished tied for fourth with North Dakota State University golfer Madi Hicks at 3-over 222.

Late-Round Birdie Secures Win for VanArragon at Baker National

A week after older brother Caleb VanArragon claimed the Minnesota Golf Association Amateur Championship, Kathryn VanArragon followed suit by firing a 1-under 218 to win the MGA Women's Amateur Championship on July 26 at Baker National Golf Course.

The VanArragons become the first brother-sister combo to win the MGA Amateur in the same season since Nancy and John Harris won their respective championships in 1989.

"I didn't quite match the 23-under [as Caleb] last week, but it's really an honor to be the first brother and sister duo to do that in 34 years," says VanArragon, a soon-to-be freshman at the University of St. Thomas. "Going into college and having my game in a place where I feel comfortable is really key.

"Learning from doing well under pressure or playing really bad under pressure—because I've done both—has helped put me in a position where

I feel more comfortable playing in the final group or being in contention."

Entering the round tied for the lead with Welch, VanArragon struggled with her putter during her opening nine, carding a trio of three-putt bogeys over her first seven holes.

"My mindset coming in was the same as it always is—to keep things simple. I really didn't start well today. I had trouble with my putter, I wasn't hitting it close and then I would three-putt.

"My dad [and caddie, Raymond] really helped me to stay patient because in that situation, it's easy to let that dominate your whole round, which I've done before. It can be a defeated feeling."

Turning in 3-over for the round, VanArragon converted her second birdie of the round at the par-5 10th to build momentum and move within two shots of the lead.

"I started to feel more confident with my swing," she says. "I hit a couple of good shots and that helped me feel better about my driver and irons."

Getting a boost from her putter late in the championship, VanArragon curled in a 12-footer for birdie at the 13th to move into a three-way tie for the lead at 1-over for the tournament.

“I made a putt on 10 that really helped get my putter started, and then I avoided a three-putt on 12,” she says.

She took the outright lead for good by sinking her birdie chance from 4 feet at the par-4 14th.

At the par-4 17th, Welch canned a birdie putt from 25 feet to get back to even par for the round. Unfazed, VanArragon rolled in a 20-footer to maintain a one-stroke advantage.

At the last, VanArragon found a fairway bunker, leaving her second just short of the green before chipping to 4 feet and rolling in her par putt to card a final-round 72.

“My first win at this tournament was a very unknown feeling—I didn’t really know what I was doing,” the two-time MGA Junior Girls’ Player of the Year says. “Now that I’ve been in this situation, it doesn’t get easier, but you get a little more comfortable.”

Notching her third win of the season, VanArragon has now collected 10 victories at state events since 2018, including recently teaming up with her brother to claim the MGA Mixed Amateur Team Championship at Brackett’s Crossing Country Club in June.

Welch, whose most recent victory came at the 2021 MGA Mixed Amateur Team Championship at Pebble Creek Golf Club, proved to be the most consistent player in the

She carded 12 consecutive pars to begin her final round before taking her only bogey of the final round at the par-5 13th to join a four-way tie for the lead at 1-over par.

A lengthy birdie putt at the 17th helped Welch get back to even par for the championship, where she would collect her 15th top-10 finish over the past seven seasons.

First-round leader Isabelle Lynch carded a final-round 73 to earn a third-place finish at 221, while two-time champion Olivia Herrick finished tied for fourth with North Dakota State University golfer Madi Hicks at 3-over 222. MGA
